The basic set of believes is the most important issue for any religious person. Shaking of such foundations may cause corruption of one's faith. Most of the Christians (Orthodox, Catholics and even Anglicans and other Protestants) base their faith on the decisions that have been made at the six first Ecumenical Councils. Discussion of Christological controversies is crucial for better understanding of Orthodox Faith. Schisms are deep and painful wounds on the body of the Christian Church. Many Christian visionaries dream to recover the apostolic sense of the early church for unity in diversity. They seek to confront the frustrations, difficulties, and ironies of the modern "pluralistic" Christian world. It can be done through the research of the historical sources and future destiny of what followers perceive to be the One, Holy, Universal, and Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ.
