Contents: This large, coffee table-style book contains vibrant, glossy pages of work shot by some of the world's most respected designers and selected from an international pool of entries. The subjects confronted are anti-war, anti-violence, the environment, disasters, human rights and politics. There are also statements with extraordinary foresight from several influential historic figures, such as Thomas Jefferson.

JFK told a room full of Noble Prize Winners in 1962 that they were the greatest collection of talent and human knowledge ever gathered at the White House, with the possible exception of when Jefferson dined alone. There are Platinum and Gold award-winning posters from numerous countries around the world.

Winners are presented with a full-page presentation and Credits and Commentary.

Audience: The book caters to a diverse network of designers and artists, as well as the general public and those who are interested in problems that the world faces today.
