Not illustrated. 1888 Excerpt: ...from the 13th to the 19th having been normal. All the negative readings were got during a hot land wind from the west. Between the 6th and 9th of September a storm of unusual violence swept over the Madras Presidency from the south-west to the north-east, making itself felt in different ways at different places. The rainfall for September was unusually small all over Madras. The average for fifteen stations was 3-24 inches, not quite half the average for this month during previous years. The barometric curves for Colombo, Madras, Belgaum, Allahabad, and Calcutta (Alipore) have been drawn and found to resemble each other closely. All over India there was a minimum between the 6th and 7th, a maximum about the 18th, another minimum on the 21st, then a rise, and a third minimum on the 27th. The first essential in any attempt to arrive at an explanation of the cause of the green sun is to ascertain the precise dates at which the phenomenon was first observed in various parts of the world. It is difficult to do this, for persons are apt to make more precise statements than their observations warrant. For instance, the sun certainly set with a peculiar silvery gleam, but no greenness, at Madras on September the 9th, and yet many persons have assured me that they saw it set green there on that evening. The reason evidently was that after their attention had been arrested by the green sunsets of the 10th and 11th they remembered having noticed something peculiar about the sunset on the 9th, and immediately concluded that the sun had been green on that occasion also. In consequence of this tendency of the mind, the evidence for all the dates given has been carefully tested, and has been found in all cases sufficient to justify the opinion that these dates are correct...
